INSTRUCTION AND STATE AID

This item is a most important one from the point of view of the children to be instructed and because it forms such a large proportion of the budget. Under instruction is included teachers' salaries, textbooks, scholars' supplies, flags and reference material. Of all these, the money spent for salaries of teachers should be the most carefully considered because it is the character of the teacher herself and the quality of the instruction she can impart that determines whether the next generation is being suitably prepared for the duties and privileges of citizenship that they must soon assume. State aid is vitally concerned with this very point. Equalization, as it is called, is intended to provide material assistance to the less wealthy districts so that they may have the advantages which the places with more wealth can afford and have provided for many years. In Brookline the teachers are receiving for salary less than the average that is paid for the state as a whole. Since in Brookline a five dollar tax on equalized valuation (and this is the basis of state-aid) is not sufficient to meet the approved budget for support of elementary schools there will continue to be financial assistance from the state to enable us to maintain instruction at a high level. A decreased budget on items concerned with the support of elementary schools will inevitably result in a decrease in state aid.

High School costs do not enter into state aid under the present school law. There is, however, a bill in the present legislature which reads "An Act Relating to the Transportation of High School Pupils." This is quite in line with the practice in some other states; whether it becomes an item for state aid remains to be seen.

At the present time tuition for high school pupils is being provided at Milford High School. Mr. Jensen operates a bus through to Milford and then takes care of the elementary pupils on his return trip to Brookline. This is the only required elementary transportation this year.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

No major repairs have been necessary during the last year. The usual summer cleaning and minor repairing has been done, and a new outer door has been provided at the Grammar school.

Arrangements have been continued with Mrs. Maxwell whereby pupils at the Primary Building have a right of way to the town ball field which is ample in size and a very safe place for games and sports.

Some equipment for playground use has been provided at small cost. This should be renewed from time to time as it becomes worn out.

The problem of heat and ventilation is still a pressing one. The Grammar room has no outlet at all for foul air and at the primary building it is quite difficult to get good heat control.

The porch at the side entrance to the Grammar room is in rather worse condition than a year ago. It still needs a thorough renovation and may possibly have to be rebuilt if repairs are delayed much longer.

COOPERATION IN EDUCATION

This is the theme for the 1937 convention of the New Hampshire State Teachers' Association to be held in the new high school building at Nashua next October 21 and 22.

In the January bulletin of the Association the President, Supt. Earle T. Tracey of Nashua writes this message:

"The history of American Society shows us that there have been relatively long periods of what might be termed static life. During these periods of time, the political and social structure of our country was so well established that little question arose as to what should be taught the youth of the nation. Their education was the education of their fathers and mothers.

"Today, the whole life of our country, political, social, and economic, is in a state of change. Such a condition of affairs naturally brings with it disagreement and uncertainty. Never before was the spirit of controversy so rampant as at present. Education itself is affected by it to the extent that parents and educators are asking themselves, 'What shall we teach the younger generation?' . . . The depression has made students more serious, more diligent, and more purposeful. It has made educators more critical of their work, and it has made parents more sensitive to the values of education.

“These ought to be our objectives for 1937:

1. A curriculum that meets present-day needs.
2. Better home and school cooperation.
3. A continuous community program for childhood and youth.
4. Better integration of school life and life outside the school.

“Alone, these objectives cannot be accomplished. All the adult public must be enlisted in this work, for it is only to the extent of its confidence and support that we may achieve these objectives. The job of education belongs not alone to the craft, but to every individual of the community. May we in 1937 strive for that cooperation.”

Report of School Nurse

To Mr. Harold C. Bales, Superintendent of Schools, Brookline, New Hampshire:

The following is my fifth report of the health work in the Brookline schools, it being the seventeenth year of this work.

The annual medical inspection was made in October 1936 by Dr. Abbott Winograd of Nashua. The defects found will be given in the School Physician's report.

A dental clinic was held at the Daniels Academy Building during the month of February 1936. The following corrections were made:

Number of pupils treated	31
Number of cleanings	24
Number of temporary extractions	18
Number of permanent extractions	5
Number of amalgam fillings	63
Number of porcelain fillings	3

I want to thank the Woman's Club, Red Cross, and Legion Auxiliary for their generous donations as this helps to reach our goal, "Better Teeth." The children's teeth seem to be in much better condition this year.

Forty school room visits have been made and home visits as necessary for the various needs of the children.

Milk was furnished to those needing it for a period of four weeks from Federal funds.

The general health of the children has been very good this year and all epidemics have been avoided thus far.

Three children have been found with defective vision during the year. These I hope will be attended to in the near future.

In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation to all school officials, teachers, pupils, and citizens for their earnest cooperation during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

VENITA H. CARTER
